I am charmed by the colors that light up the skies in our pastoral landscape. "Sugarloaf Mountain Sunset" captures that in Oils and Watercolors below.

Join me for a regional Art workshop in a beautiful natural setting.

Draw Bonsai at the National Bonsai & Penjing Museum

- Saturday, May 18, 2019
- 10:00 AM 1:00 PM
- National Bonsai & Penjing Museum
- 3501 New York Avenue Northwest Washington, DC, 20002 (map)

Sketch in the enchanted Bonsai & Penjing Museum. Capture the delicate branches and vibrant colors of bonsai with pens and color pencils.

Spring Nature Drawing Workshop

- Audubon Naturalist Society, Woodend Sanctuary
- 8940 Jones Mill Road Chevy Chase, MD, 20815 United States (map)

May 10 (10 am - 2:30 pm)

We will create a spring sketch, using pens, pencils and color pencils in a sketchbook.

This is a chance to slow down and look closely at spring leaves, buds and flowers, as you draw in your sketchbook.

Spring Hike on Sugarloaf Mountain

- Friday, May 24, 2019
- 10:00 AM 3:00 PM
- Sugarloaf Mountain

Leaders: Melanie Choukas-Bradley and Tina Thieme Brown

Members $34; nonmembers $42

The author and the artist of two books about Sugarloaf Mountain team up once again for a seasonal outing devoted to the botany, wildlife, geology, and history of our local monadnock in the rural Piedmont northwest of Washington DC.

My gardens are lush with native plants, these leaves, flowers and buds are a natural way to soothe your soul.

Celebrate Earth Day every day by planting native plants to support wildlife that depend on them.
